Justice Cabinet announces Victims of Crime Act (VOCA) funds available to communities

FRANKFORT, KY - Justice and Public Safety Secretary J. Michael Brown announced today that funding is available for programs that offer direct services to victims of violent crime. Applications for the funding, which is received through the federal Victims of Crime Act (VOCA), are due by June 14.

The VOCA program provides hands-on assistance and direct services to victims of crime, such as crisis intervention and follow-up; therapy; group counseling; information and referral; court advocacy; and assistance with victim compensation claims. Eligible applicants include public agencies and non-profit programs such as domestic violence shelters; child advocacy centers; rape crisis centers; prosecutorial and crisis intervention programs; and other advocacy programs that currently provide or want to provide direct service to victims of violent crime.

Applications and related information may be obtained by following the links on the Grants Management Branch webpage, <http://justice.ky.gov/departments/gmb>. Awards are scheduled to be announced in September 2013.

All applications must be submitted via the on-line Kentucky Justice Grants Management System (GMS). New applicants are strongly encouraged to establish a user account and familiarize themselves with the system well in advance of the due date. Please note: validation of new user accounts will take 48-72 hours. On-line training videos and a user manual are available by following the links on the Grants Management Branch webpage, <http://justice.ky.gov/departments/gmb>.

Assistance with the application process may be obtained by contacting Grants Management Branch staff at (502) 564-3251 or askgmb@ky.gov.
